

HOW TO GET TEXTBOOKS

- 1 Verify that the book is correct by looking at multiple pieces of information. Check title, author, and edition number, and always check the ISBN-13, the string of digits at the end of each entry in the booklist. For example:

Vallerand, A. H., & Sanoski, C. A. (2016). Davis's drug guide for nurses (15th ed.). Philadelphia, PA: F. A. Davis Company. 9780803657052
- 2 Booklists may change each term. It is recommended that students buy what is needed for only one term at a time.
- 3 Multiple formats of a text may be available, e.g. electronic text, loose-leaf, hardback, paperback, etc. Students are encouraged to purchase the format that is most effective for them.

- 5 Galen campus libraries attempt to hold at least one copy of every textbook in the curriculum. To ensure availability, these textbook copies must be used inside the library and cannot be checked out. The library may also have older editions that do circulate. See a library staff member for assistance. Contact information for the Librarians at each campus are provided below:
