

HOW TO GET TEXTBOOKS

- 1 Verify that the book is correct by looking at multiple pieces of information. Check title, author, and edition number, and always check the ISBN-13, the string of digits at the end of each entry in the booklist. For example:

Vallerand, A. H., & Sanoski, C. A. (2016). Davis's drug guide for nurses (15th ed.). Philadelphia, PA: F. A. Davis Company. 9780803657052
- 2 Booklists may change each term. It is recommended that students buy what is needed for only one term at a time.
- 3 Multiple formats of a text may be available, e.g. electronic text, loose-leaf, hardback, paperback, etc. Students are encouraged to purchase the format that is most effective for them.
- 4 Ways to order books*:
 - a. Order from any of the following online vendors, where both new and used copies may be available:
 - Abe Books – www.abebooks.com
 - Alibris – www.alibris.com
 - Amazon – www.amazon.com
 - Better World Books – www.betterworldbooks.com
 - Half Price Books – www.hpb.com
 - Barnes & Noble – www.bn.com
 - b. Renting options are available from the following online vendors (and others):
 - Chegg – www.chegg.com
 - Textbook Rush – www.textbookrush.com
 - c. Compare prices from multiple sellers at www.dealoz.com or www.bigwords.com
 - d. Find Galen student sellers at www.craigslist.org or www.ebay.com. Search with keyword Galen under books. Or search for Galen groups on www.facebook.com
 - e. Check local bookstores.
